Before the year 2020, another new year, a new generation of Windows will be released. In most cases, the next operating system of Windows will be called Windows 10.'s recently revealed IP, or, alternatively, the bombast of Sirochi's belligerent warnings. This, in turn, should give the United States the opportunity to begin negotiations on reducing its military presence in Asia while making its capacity to threaten or strike the PRC contingent upon Chinese non-compliance. The United States is not a country that can ignore the PRC's increased capacity; rather, by taking steps to reduce its presence in Asia and continuing to maintain a strong deterrent, it can recalibrate its relationship with the PRC on its own terms. That could include the dismantlement of its aircraft carrier task forces. In the future, the United States will be forced to navigate its relations with China on a more balanced footing. If the United States does not up its efforts to reduce its military presence in Asia, the PRC's next move will be clear: a staged reduction of its military capacity to the level of the United States and increasing its use of economic and military coercion in pursuit of its political and strategic goals in Asia. * Notes 1. The exercises occurred in late December 2019; however, observers noted that they followed the events of January 1 and the Chinese New Year. 2. See, for example, in the PRC's official English-language newspaper, People's Daily, January 2, 2020 e79caf774b
