As an Excerpt from Tarnished Chronicles, a free game, The Tarnished Chronicles, based on Oriental Mythologies, developed by FishVille Studio, has been released in China. The action role-playing game features a huge world with a variety of exciting situations, multiple high-intensity dungeons and immersive gameplay. It features a storyline based on legend, where you become a lord in the near future, and experience a deep, convincing fantasy world. The game also includes a unique asynchronous online element, letting you feel the presence of other players. Applying in-game advertisements to increase company profit has generated controversy in China and led to a number of companies being fined. In the first case, in December last year, the Economic Management Department of Shandong Province suspended Online Century Customer Service Co Ltd, which runs the online game service Tencent Live, from offering in-game advertisements. The department said the company's games and services had caused "a lot of damage to the moral and psychic well-being of children and minors." In October, the department shut down a Shanghai-based company called Phoenix Space, which operated a social network called "Game Re-Search: Aliens" and promoted the company's game marketing service. The company was accused of promoting violent games to minors and their parents' abuse of their children. Last month, the Central Commission of the Communist Party of China's Propaganda Department announced it had fined a Pearl River Delta-based company, Zhengzhou Yipin Information and Communication Technology Co Ltd, over the use of in-game advertisements. "The company failed to clearly label the content of its free game 'Connect King', and it promoted in-game advertisements to increase profits," said a commission statement. Like in-game advertisements, free to play games have been a hot topic in China, with the government imposing tougher rules to curb the practice. The State Administration of Press and Publication (SAPPR) in June issued guidelines saying game companies should not provide "sexual or violent content" to children. The same month, the State Administration for Market Regulation issued its own five-point plan for "self-regulation" of the gaming industry, requiring game developers to deposit funds into a central bank to start from the end of the year. SAPPR also included a clause in its guidelines warning companies not to promote violence and "provide misleading information

- Bring New Adventure Every Time with Dynamic Experience Every time you play Tarnished, you'll be able to experience new stories as they play out. The way we work is that we pre-load the stories. Then when you play, it will fill in the beginning part of the story with the "prelude" element in which you explore and gain knowledge through experience points. As your experience levels up, you will have access to new weapons and items that your character can use, and will be given access to new story segments in which you will be able to adapt your character accordingly.
- Unlock and Combine Character Equipment and Magic for Better Results The items and equipment are used to create a wide variety of different weapons and armor. Each level has a variety of weapons available that are equipped and used with a combination to make your weapon unique.
- Grow Your Equipment and Magic Skill to Find a Different Path The skill trees in Tarnished can be "grown" to level your overall ability to solve problems and cast unique magical spells. The amount of experience and money it takes to level up is based on the difficulty of the tasks you have to complete to achieve that level.
- Get More Powerful Equipment and Skills by Earning Experience The amount of experience and money you get from each battle you participate in depends on the difficulty of the enemy. As you gain experience, you will begin getting access to new equipment and skills. You can choose your own path to get the desired skills, and after the game is over, you can have a totally different outcome with a different character. • An Entire New Universe! Like in previous games, we have divided the world into factions. Each faction has its own set of monsters and dungeons. You will be able to play in any region of the game world, even in a place that is not related
