We hold that the district court properly treated the District Court for the Southern District of New York as the forum of the "other judicial district." As the state court refused to stay plaintiff's action pending the outcome of this action in the Southern District, we hold that jurisdiction should be retained by the district court, and we reverse the judgment of the Court of Appeal with direction to affirm the judgment of the trial court. *95 HUSSON, J., Concurr. BIEN, J., Concurr. and Dissents. BIEN, J., Concurring and Dissenting. I concur except as to the holding that the action must be retained by the district court, and dissent from this holding. Before the due process clause and statute became operative, actions could be brought against a corporation anywhere where its agent could be served with summons. These were held to be actions pendente lite. 1 Corp.Jur.2d, Actions § 25. These actions did not have to be brought in the county of principal business or in the place where the cause of action accrued. In these cases, the federal courts followed what was the state law of corporations. These principles of former law are not applicable in a situation such as this, where the only connection the state and federal courts have with a foreign corporation is that it was the defendant in a state action. The doctrine of forum non conveniens has been developed to resolve the problem of forum selection in such circumstances. It is the settled rule that when an action is brought in one federal district, in another judicial district, against a foreign corporation, its amenability to suit in the latter is determined by the law of the state where the cause of action accrued, by the law of the state where the action is brought, and by the lex loci contractus, that is, the law of the place where the contract was made. The law is laid down more precisely in § 3852 of the Restatement, Conflict of Laws. It is also the law that in determining amenability
