The script was done for me (thank you so much!) so this was a real breeze. But, as soon as i'm done with the site, i will need you to update it for the new version of Magento so i can use it with my Joomla site. Thanks again for your help, Morgan The script was done for me (thank you so much!) so this was a real breeze. But, as soon as i'm done with the site, i will need you to update it for the new version of Magento so i can use it with my Joomla site. Thanks again for your help, Morgan I have a 2 hour deadline for this project, and I need to know quickly if this script can be made a bit more user-friendly, with default function/option settings (if possible). I'm just a web designer, and I'm not going to write a full-blown script by myself. Do you have an estimate on how long this would take, and how many hours? I have a 2 hour deadline for this project, and I need to know quickly if this script can be made a bit more user-friendly, with default function/option settings (if possible). I'm just a web designer, and I'm not going to write a full-blown script by myself. Do you have an estimate on how long this would take, and how many hours? Hello, Thank you for your reply. I'll try to answer your questions: I don't have the time for this because I'm about to leave for the weekend. If you would be able to answer this, then I'll add this to my to-do list. If you wouldn't be able to do this for me, then just let me know. It's looking like it will take more than 2 hours, just because I'm thinking of putting some settings in there for most of the users. Now, I know that you could do this yourself by answering your own question. However, this is an easy question to ask, and I could do it, but that takes a little bit longer. I was
